BUY A BOND! Lieut. Vincent de Wierzbicki of the French High Commission Will Speak BUY A BOND!
at Washington Opera House Wednesday, April 10th, at 8:15 P. M.

MAYSVILLE CEMETERY COMPANY BUYS BONDS
At a meeting of the directors of the old Maysville Cemetery Company an appropriation of $6,000 for the purchase of Liberty Bonds of the third issue was made. In order to buy these bonds it was necessary to withdraw money from an investment that was paying a higher rate of interest, but the directors felt that the government needed the money and the bonds were purchased yesterday.

GERMANTOWN FAIR COMPANY MAKES DONATIONS
At a meeting of the stockholders and directors of the Germantown Fair Company held last week $50 was donated to the Mason County Red Cross Chapter and the same amount to the Bracken County Chapter. The purchase of $1,500 worth of Liberty Bonds of the third issue was also authorized.

AT MIDDLETOWN, OHIO
Secretary Carl Dodds of the Maysville Chamber of Commerce left this morning for Middletown, Ohio, to be at the bedside of his mother, who will undergo a serious surgical operation today. He expects to leave Middletown Wednesday for Chicago to attend the sixth annual convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce which convenes there Wednesday.

ALAS! POOR DOUGHNUT
Oh, friend of my youth
Of my struggles, forsooth
To gain a small foothold in some Niche of fame.
You've stood by and fed me,
While fortune has led me,
But Hoover has put you far out of The game.

ANNOUNCEMENT
Mr. E. L. Franken, representing The Potter Shoe Co., Cincinnati, will be in your city Wednesday, April 10, at Central Hotel with a full and complete line of new and authoritative footwear in the prevailing fashions. We would appreciate a most careful and critical inspection.
Respectfully,
THE POTTER SHOE CO.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS
One of our carriers has enlisted in the army and we have a new boy delivering papers on East Front, Second, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth streets. If you do not receive your paper phone 40 and we will correct the mistake and see that your paper is delivered.

Have you had your seats reserved for the big show at the Opera House Thursday night? "The Garden of Allah" and "The Sons of Democracy."

FRENCH OFFICER
To Speak at Mass Meeting at Washington Opera House Tomorrow Night at 8:15 O'clock.

The committee in charge of the local Liberty Loan campaign has received a letter from the Director of the Fourth Federal Reserve District Campaign calling special attention to the prominence of Lieutenant de Wierzbicki.

This officer is a member of the French High Commission and was selected to accompany Monsieur Tardieu to the United States because of his fluency in the English language, his actual experiences in the great war and his ability as a public speaker. Lieutenant de Wierzbicki speaks at Cincinnati just before coming to Maysville, and will assuredly bring an interesting and stimulating message from the front.

The Director of the National Speakers Bureau in connection with war publicity and Liberty Loan work states "that of all speakers sent out by the Washington Bureau none are more highly spoken of than Lieutenant de Wierzbicki."

Through the courtesy and patriotic co-operation of the management of the Washington Opera House, that building has been turned over to the Liberty Loan Committee for Wednesday evening. The doors will be opened at 7:15.

Circuit Judge C. D. Newell will preside at the meeting.

HUN DRIVE
ON AMIENS IS ABANDONED—ENEMY'S EFFORTS TO GAIN RAILWAY CENTER BLOCKED.

American, French and British Fighting Germans Along Fighting Line in Picardy — French Pressed Back on Oise, Germans Declare.

London, April 8.—"Except for hostile artillery activity on different parts of the battle front, and especially in the neighborhood of Buquoy," says Field Marshal Haig's statement from France tonight, "there is nothing of special interest to report."

Berlin, via London, April 8.—The powerful German pressure along the Oise is forcing the French back to the lower outskirts of Concy Wood, according to the official report from general quarters this evening, which says:

"In continuation of our attacks on the southern bank of the Oise, we drove the enemy out of his strong positions on the heights east of Concy-Le-Chateau."

Fighting American, French and British troops strongly entrenched and well equipped for battle, the German army has for the moment given up its direct drive against Amiens. After utter repulse in his efforts to smash straight through to his objective, the enemy now is attempting a new maneuver which is intended to broaden the field of action and reduce the menace of a counter offensive that would nullify all the gains made by the Teutons since March 21.

Reports from the battle line in Picardy disclose the first stages of this new German offensive aimed at either side of the salient in the allied lines. From La Basse Canal, in the north, to the sectors east of Laon, the great artillery forces of the enemy are thundering, with the bombardment deepening at places to the intensity of drumfire.

The length of this front is approximately 120 miles. North of Lens, east of Arras along the new front running through Buquoy to Albert, south to Montdidier and thence eastward past Laasigny and east to Noyon to a point far beyond Chauny, the Germans are hammering the allied lines in an attempt to break the defenses and prepare them for the infantry assault which may be expected at any moment.

On the western "elbow" of the salient of the allied lines the Germans are forced to fight uphill. Their advance across the lower ground along the Somme, Aisne and Luce rivers has carried them up to a parapet of hills which sentinel the road to Amiens.

Attacks along this natural bulwark have netted the enemy only insignificant gains at a horrible cost.

At points, the German efforts have gained, but these gains have resulted only in the formation of sharp salients which are swept by rifle and machine gun fire and tempests of shells whenever enemy troops are seen forming for an attack.

There is a wholesome respect by the German general staff for the allied reserve army which as yet appears to have been drawn upon lightly to meet the Teutonic attacks. The attack on the French lines southeast of Chauny is for the purpose of removing a menacing salient, and the gaining of better protection to the German left flank.

This assault is still going on, and it has made considerable progress. The Germans struck through the lower forest of Coucy and have reached a point south of the village of Polmbray. The Berlin official statement claims that 2,000 prisoners have been taken.

That an attack of large dimensions is planned for the front of Arras, northward to Lens in consideration probable by military experts. As long as this front is in its present position, the Germans can not exert their full strength on the line before Amiens. The cannonade in this region may be the prelude of a mass attack such as bent the British line during the latter days of March.

Notwithstanding the statement made on Friday by Stephen Pichon, the French foreign minister that "Americans now are fighting in Picardy," nothing definite has been learned about where General Pershing's men are located or what part they are playing in this battle of battles.

On the American held sectors, near Verdun east of Lunville, and north-east of Toul, only ordinary trench activities have been reported.

Little has been heard from the Italian front. The concentration of Austrian troops in that theater of the war is considered a warning that major activities may be looked for there, probably in the mountainous country, but there has been no indication that the Teutons plan to launch.

Turkish troops are reported to be invading the caucuses, where they will take possession of the territories which were given them under the peace treaty of Brest Litovsk. The landing of British and Japanese forces at Vladivostok seems to have been merely for the purpose of policing that city. No steps toward ejecting them have as yet been taken by the Bolshevik authorities.

MASON COUNTY'S QUOTA IN SECOND DRAFT IS PUT AT 22

Mason county's quota in the first increment of the second draft will be 22, according to a Frankfort dispatch which gave the quota for every county in the state. Following are the quotas for Mason and adjoining counties:

Braeken	12
Fleming	20
Lewis	18
Mason	22
Robertson	5

Braeken county will also furnish two colored men and Lewis county one as their remainder of the first quota.

The men will begin moving from the various counties of the state on April 26 and the last of the contingents is expected to arrive at Camp Taylor on May 1. Members of the local board have received no definite information as to the arrangements for calling the men needed into service.

QUOTAS FOR LIBERTY LOAN

Following are the quotas announced for the counties that surround Mason:

Braeken	$211,350
Fleming	167,550
Lewis	48,550
Robertson	38,000
Total	$465,450

Mason county's quota is $442,400, almost as much as the four other counties combined. Its quota is exceeded by only five of the other fifty-six counties in this district—Campbell, Fayette, Boyd, Kenton and Leslie.

THE TORCH FLICKERS

During the last two weeks the Germans have been making their greatest effort of the war to break through the allied lines. Success in this attempt would have come close to spelling disaster for the cause of democracy in Europe. Certainly it would have meant little else for France and Italy. Russia's experience would have been theirs, with added horrors in appeasing a long cherished hatred.

Even yet the danger is not wholly past. The Prussian war machine has been slowed up, but it still threatens. It has paid a terrific price in lives, but life is cheap under the direction of the Kaiser's ambitions. The life-wealth of the empire is being drawn upon as never before in anticipation of another supreme effort to batter through the allied circle of death.

Meantime the danger clouds are lowering over the fields of Flanders. The torch of democracy flickers; the hope of humanity wavers.

Uncle Sam is making super-human efforts to rush every possible character of defensive strength to the assistance of the Allies, desperately contesting every inch of the ground they hold. American lives will shortly pay an even greater price for Liberty on foreign soil than they have ever paid at home.

And pay it willingly, bravely, unflinchingly for world freedom.

What are YOU—who are safe for the present at home—paying?

Are you doing your part to thwart Prussian ambition?

To perpetuate the land of the free and the home of the brave?

Are you buying Liberty Bonds?

Rev. John Barbour, Miss Mary Wilson and Miss Mamie Peacor left this morning for Winchester to attend Presbytery as representatives of the First Presbyterian Church this city.

BEWARE OF COMPLACENCY

With the return of better weather there is a return also of the old tendency toward complacency among our people. It is helped along by counsellors of optimism, so-called. The troubles are all over, they say; don't be gloomy; there was really nothing to worry about anyhow; this is a great country and it will raise plenty for us all to eat and will win the war all right. So go to sleep again.

This is a great country, truly! It will win the war from Germany. But to win the war and to feed its people and equip its armies without a cost in life and money and inherent strength that would be appalling it must get busy and keep busy.

We got through the winter somehow—or near enough through it now to hope that the worst is over. But the government has given out some startling statistics about the way we got through.

Secretary McAdoo's figures show that the amazing expedient of idle days cost eighteen of our cities in loss of wages and factory returns more than four billion dollars and that the value of coal saved was little more than a hundred million dollars!

If proper management had been applied to the fuel problem of the winter the needed coal would have been distributed, the industrial plants would have been kept running steadily the lost billions would have been saved, the wasted war impetus would have been conserved, and all with the investment of the hundred million dollars which it took the four billion to replace.

Even a great country like the United States can not long stand such a drain on its resources as this winter has imposed. It should learn to avoid the consequences of its mistakes by profiting from their lesson.—Chicago Tribune.

Trotsky, as it now appears, pinned his faith on a revolution in Germany. He hoped for a popular uprising which would save the Bolshevik regime in Russia by giving the Kaiser's government a handful of trouble at home. He was disappointed—and there are others who were equally fatuous in other lands in their hopes that the German people would save us the bother of going into real warfare. Republican forms of government will not be preserved and perpetuated by any action save their own. If we wish to keep our institutions we shall be foolish to expect Tentonic help in the task. We must look out for ourselves.

What shall it profit a post-office department to make an alleged "profit" of $9,000,000 a year, and fail to give proper service in any part of this broad land? Saving by cutting down service is an abomination in the sight of all the people. These are basic considerations to which some consideration should be paid in Washington. There might be some leniency shown if the trouble did not antedate the interference of the war with our transportation facilities, but the disorganization was brought about long ago, and is, of course, intensified now. It is perfectly safe to say that every newspaper in the United States, without regard to politics or location, has been kicking for weary months and years. The whole situation demonstrates that Mr. Burleson is a very obstinate man, but there is no comfort in that.—Springfield Republican.

A NERVOUS WRECK

From Three Years' Suffering. Says
Cardui Made Her Well.

Texas City, Tex.—In an interesting statement, Mrs. G. H. Schill, of this town, says: "For three years I suffered untold agony with my head. I was unable to do any of my work."

I just wanted to sleep all the time, for that was the only ease I could get, when I was asleep. I became a nervous wreck just from the awful suffering with my head.

I was so nervous that the least noise would make me jump out of my bed. I had no energy, and was unable to do anything. My son, a young boy, had to do all my household duties.

I was not able to do anything until I took Cardui. I took three bottles in all, and it surely cured me of those awful headaches. That has been three years ago, and I know the cure is permanent, for I have never had any headache since taking Cardui.

Nothing relieved me until I took Cardui.
It did wonders for me."

energy for muscular work. They are cheap. This Potato week. Eat them every day, three times a day.
Try them this way:

Boiled Potatoes

Six large potatoes, two tablespoons finely chopped green peppers, one tablespoon finely chopped parsley, one teaspoon salt, dash paprika, one egg (half is saved to brush top of potatoes), one tablespoon butter.

Wash and bake the potatoes. Cut in half the long way; remove the inside with a fork. Add butter, pepper, parsley and seasoning; mix very lightly. Fill into shell and round the top; brush with a little egg and roughen with fork.

Put in shallow pan, return to oven and bake until a nice brown. Serve in a folded napkin.

VINOL MAKES GOOD BLOOD

Positive—Convincing Proof

Many so-called remedies for anemia are only so in name. Their makers are afraid to prove their claims by telling what their medicines contain.

The only way to be honest with the people is to let them know what they are paying for. Here is the Vinol formula. When the doctor knows what a medicine contains, it ceases to be a "patent" medicine.

By Cod Liver and Beef Peptides, Iron and Manganese Peptonates, Iron and Ammonium Citrate, Zinc and Soda Glycerophosphates, Casein.

Any doctor will tell you that the ingredients of Vinol, as named above, will enrich the blood and banish anemia and create strength. When the blood is pure and rich and red, the body is strong and robust.

You can prove this at our expense because your money will be returned if Vinol does not improve your health.

know—he is a chap who has an original way of putting things—what he thought of it.

"No complaint at all," he said cheerily. "I still have ten points profit in mine."

That apparently ludicrous reply, of course, called for explanation. This is the way he put it:

"We have clapped a mortgage of five billions on the ranch. The appraisers tell us that the properties are worth 250 billions. The mortgages is on the basis of two per cent. of appraisal.

"For every $10,000 that my books show I bought $200 of Liberty bonds and charged them to current expense wrote them off the books. Then for every $200 so purchased and written off I bought $1,000 for investment.

"Now just look where I stand. I am in the clear with my two per cent of the war obligation paid off. And I hold a first lien on the rest of the United States of America for $1,200 at a net cost to me of $1,000. That figures down to 83 1/2. And you and the other 99,999,998 citizens of this country, your and their heirs and assigns forever, are the guarantors.

"I think I have some investment and, as far as I am able, I intend to go through the whole series of the war loans along those lines. When I am no longer able to buy for investment I hope nevertheless to continue the policy of charging off my share."

This man has no illusions as to what this war means to him. He looked it squarely in the fact. The government is not borrowing. It is your debt and mine. We have planted a mortgage on the ranch. Our acres are no longer clear. And the only way in which we can lift the mortgage ahead of maturity, the only way we can offset the burden, is to own our share of it—to have enough of the particular portion of it that hangs directly over the home, the store, the factory, the savings account.

It is the only safe business policy to pursue.

And it is good business policy to like the man quoted write your part of the obligation down if you can, and fortify yourself further by taking a piece of the general and universal mortgage for investment.

I have never heard a better or a clearer statement of what the individual attitude to the country's war loans ought to be.

Aside from patriotic instincts no property owner or investor can afford, on pure business grounds, to let the other fellow hold the mortgage that is hanging over his home, his business, his accumulations of whatever nature. They are all under these Liberty bonds.

When my friend took the extreme measure of writing off his 'end of it' he but foresaw what was bound to happen and what has since happened

—the depreciation of every other class of security and investment, the shrinkage of the buying power of the dollar the mounting costs of the expense accounts in the matters of living and of doing business. We went into the core of it and at the original source wrote off the price on his bonds.

You and I sat by and saw our

"other stuff" shrink and shivel in value. Because we did not write down our investments they took the inevitable course and wrote themselves down. Before these loans they were clear. Now they are "under and subject to" the general mortgage, the universal and inescapable obligation.

The income from everything we have or will have is taxed and the principal stands as security for and guarantor of the country's debt.

When we look at the resistless power of it we realize better that there is only one thing to do. Get out from under and get into the clear by getting hold of as much of this all-powerful and all-comprehensive security as will clear your end of it.

And hang on to it for your own protection because this overhang is going to be bigger and more burdensome before it is smaller.

The writer has been asked almost daily the past year for his opinion as to what particular class of industrial or other corporation security it would be best to own in anticipation of coming peace.

I don't know and I don't think any many living knows.

What I do know is that this country will survive and that the survivors will pay these Liberty bonds, interest and principal.

Every survivor, his and her heirs and assigns, the five hundred millions of people that will ultimately inhabit

this land; every unmined ton of iron ore, of copper, of lead, zinc, gold and silver; every crop harvested by this and every generation to come; the fruits of the labor of the industries, the economies to be effected by the inventive genius of the ages to come.

The achievements of the arts and sciences all down the centuries as yet unborn; these are all pledged under the present day Liberty bonds.

When Great Britain and the United States first discussed the pacting of a British loan here, the English bankers were nonplussed at the American demand for collateral.

Collateral had become a business habit in this country. It went better in the markets than anything else.

England wondered. She offered the credit of her whole people. We asked only a part.

We in this country had little prior experience with the higher credits.

But we are learning the lesson fast.

The pledge of all the people of their all, stands so far above any guarantee of any fragmentary part thereof in the form of corporate security that it is really too bad to set up the comparison.

The investor who is seeking to fatten his purse through large prospective income return and enhancement after the war can very profitably take a glance backward over the short but highly interesting period of American finance between 1914 and 1918.

In 1916 many leading American railroads rolled up net profits as high as 20 per cent. on their share capital.

Late in 1915 some eminent New York financiers were telling their friends that money would be so plentiful and the surplus of European wealth coming our way so burdensome that railroad stocks would again sell on a 3 per cent. income basis and would reach the highest prices ever accorded.

By Christmas week of 1917 the railroads were all glad to come home to mother.

Speller stocks in 1916 were making so much money that the $10 per varieties sold at 1,000 to 1,500 per cent. of their par value. Extra dividends of 100 per cent. a quarter, 100 per cent. a year, were described as conservative as they represented but a half of current earnings.

Before 1917 was half done speller was a drug on the market. It could not be sold at the cost of production.

The layman never has found out what happened. I doubt if many in the trade have a clear conception of just how and why the explosion. And it seemed a curious expression of fa-talism that just when the thing did blow up the speller crowd discovered that somebody else owned a valid patent on their processes.

For the past six months the speller trade has been begging the government to put a price on their product that will permit the zinc industry to come back to life and take a place in the sun.

It has been that way all down the line.

Turn from the graveyard of the stock markets of 1917 and look for a moment at the first mortgages of the railroads. Hugging

"LEST WE FORGET"

The Temps, a leading French paper in a eulogistic editorial says: "The German offensive, intended to dislocate the Allies has led the United States to offer more than its soldiers—to engage solemnly its military prestige and give an example of discipline and unity. 'We have no selfish ends to serve, said President Wilson in asking the American Congress to declare war against Germany. A year has passed. Russia has crumbled, the American people have lost their illusions as we know and suffered privations of which we do not know enough, but to the eyes of an English witness, writing recently, the war has suddenly taken the aspect of a crusade, which it really is."

"The Americans," concludes the Temps, "fight a fight of faith, and peril itself exalts their courage. By what aberration can Germany imagine that she can conquer forces such as these?"

Will the land that gave us Lafayette in our hour of need, find us unworthy of confidence? "God of our fathers be with us yet—lest we forget!"

GERMANS ATTEMPT SURPRISE ATTACK BUT ARE REPULSED

With the American Army in France, April 8—A large German patrol attempted a surprise attack on the American outposts in the sector northwest of Toul early this morning, but was dispersed without being able to reach any of the American positions. A corporal in a listening post saw the Germans approaching. He waited until they were within a few yards of them and then challenged. The enemy answered with rifle fire, whereupon the American outposts opened with heavy machine gun and automatic fire, scattering the Germans and driving them back to their own lines.

A violent artillery duel went on all through the night along the whole length of the American front. The Germans threw more shells into the American positions than in any similar period for the past few months. The American batteries replied vigorously.

HILLDALE P. T. A. HUSTLERS

At the box and pie supper which was held in Hilldale last week for the benefit of the Hilldale Public School, a nice sum of $16 was realized, which is enough to clear all the debts of the Hilldale school.

The social held under the management of the Parent-Teacher Association of Hilldale was a very delightful affair and a large number of people attended. Miss Nannie Tully rendered three most interesting and entertaining recitations and Mrs. J. Burns as fortune teller was very successful and popular.

Such work as the planning of this wholesome little social and the good work the ladies of the P. T. A. have been doing deserves much credit.

MASON CIRCUIT COURT

In the Mason Circuit Court yesterday the indictment against the Washington Fire Company for operating a moving picture show without a license was dismissed by Judge Newell because of a flaw in the indictment.

Albert Potts, recently convicted and fined for operating a restaurant without a license, asked for a new trial but this was overruled. He was granted an appeal to the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

Attorney S. F. Reed was appointed to defend Clarence Kimball and Earl Smith, indicted for operating a automobile without the consent of the owner, and Elmer Scott, indicted for perjury. Their cases will come up for trial tomorrow.
